EYES OF THE STEEL WORLD ARE TURNED TO WILSON IN HOPE MAY AVERT STRIKE

Chief Executive Has Before Him
the Request of Samuel Gompers.

TONIGHT MARKS END OF "TEN-DAY LIMIT"

Executive Council of Federation
Continues Its Sessions
Today at Capital.

(International News Service.)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 30.—A general strike of the organized workers in the iron and steel industries is inevitable, unless President Wilson can find some means to avert it. Leaders of the metal trades department of the American Federation of Labor so declared today. They said that so far as they are personally concerned there is nothing more than they can see.

The representatives of the steel workers presented the details of their side to President Wilson yesterday, leaving the matter temporarily in his hands. Today the committeemen were scattering to various quarters of the United States to make speeches at various Labor Day celebrations Monday. All will return Tuesday when definite action regarding any strike proposed, including the date, is expected.

(International News Service.)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 30.—The eyes of the steel world were turned toward President Wilson today. The possibility of the President taking action to prevent the threatened tie-up of the industry was the one topic of discussion among labor leaders gathered in the national capital. The President had before him the request of Samuel Gompers, president of the Federation of Labor, and of the committee representing the steel workers, that he urge Judge E. H. Gary, chairman of the board of directors of the United States Steel corporation, to give the men a hearing but up to the present time there has been no intimation as to what his action would be.

Tonight will mark the end of the ten days given the steel committee to get the demands of the men before Judge Gary. Following Judge Gary's refusal to see the men the committee stated positively that the strike vote will be put into effect unless Judge Gary reconsiders his position before night. In the meanwhile the committee was sitting tight with some of the members confidently expecting that the White House would intervene in their behalf. The executive council of the American Federation of Labor, continued its sessions today. At the railroad administration offices an official report on the situation on the Pacific coast was awaited.

PERSHING DENIES PROBERS' RIGHTS TO QUESTION HIM

(International News Service.)
PARIS, Aug. 30.—General John J. Pershing, commander of the American Expeditionary Force in France, today declined to recognize the right of the congressional committee on war expenditures and treatment of prisoners to question him for information. The "interview" between General Pershing and the congressmen lasted only four minutes. The meeting was arranged for ten o'clock this morning at the general headquarters but when the committee arrived they found General Pershing absent.

General Pershing had gone to say goodbye to Premier Clemenceau and it was 10:30 before he reached his headquarters and confronted the impatient investigators. The committee was headed by Representative Royal C. Johnston, of South Dakota. General Pershing, who is leaving for home next week said he regarded the interview as purely a "social call" but the members of the committee took another view of it.

Representative Oscar Bland, another member of the committee, was very bitter. "General Pershing and his army are busier than our deputy sergeant-at-arms and can avoid giving information."

The members stated General Pershing would be called before the committee on his return to America.

Blood, Is Discovered in a Lonely Lane

(International News Service.)
NASHVILLE, Aug. 30.—The body of Robin Cooper, son of Duncan B. Cooper, was found in Richland creek, Belle Meade park here this morning. Life was extinct. He is supposed to have been killed and thrown into the creek, a victim of foul play.

Robin Cooper was well known in this city and became nationally known because of his trial in 1909 in connection with the death of Senator Carmack. He was convicted in the lower court March 20, 1909 of murder in the second degree and the case was reversed as to him by the supreme court April 13, 1910.

Thursday night some people in a car came up to Robin Cooper's home in Belle Meade park and asked for gasoline. He got in his car without a hat and went with them. This was the last seen of him until his body was found.

The car was found this morning in the lane running through Belle Meade park and near the bridge over Richland creek. to Supervise the Improvement Program

TO COME NEXT WEEK TO TALK TO OFFICIALS

New Paved Thoroughfares Will Relieve Traffic on La-Fayette Street

Engineer Meade, at present city engineer of Florence, yesterday afternoon was named by the Decatur council as city engineer of Decatur and will supervise the paving program of the city, the first step of which will be the improvement of Church and Vine streets, authorized by the aldermanic body Friday.

Church street will be paved from Canal street to Ferry street and Vine will be paved from Canal street to Alabama street.

City Engineer Meade is expected to come here next week for further conferences with the aldermanic body in regard to extension of the improvement plans.

The paving situation in Decatur has reached an interesting stage through court action which delayed several years, paving authorized some time ago by the council during the administration of Mayor H. A. Skeggs, now United States marshal for the northern district. The municipality was the final victor in the injunction proceedings and recently the city was called upon by the company, which had contracted with the city for the purchase of the bonds, to take some action in the matter.

Vine and Church street improvements will relieve the heavy traffic on Lafayette street, which now carries practically all vehicles going from Ferry street to the business district.

TROUP IS CHANGING TAX ASSESSMENTS TO INCLUDE 3 MILLS VOTED FOR SCHOOLS

Funds Derived From New Law
Will Be Available Early
In 1920.

DOWNPOUR PREVENTS ELECTION IN DANVILLE

Next Few Years to Show Marked Growth in the Rural Schools.

County Tax Assessor Herman O. Troup is busily engaged readjusting the tax assessments for this year to include the three mill tax recently voted in eight Morgan county districts for the upbuilding of their schools. The law requires the work to be completed prior to October 1.

Early in October Tax Assessor Troup and Tax Collector Robertson will begin their visits to the various precincts of the county, assessing and collecting taxes, the former for next year and the latter for this year.

The funds derived from the additional tax for the schools will be available for the educational facilities early in 1920 when Tax Collector Robertson completes his collections and makes his distribution of the county funds.

Carried In Eight

The three mill election, which is being held in many counties in the state, carried in eight precincts in Morgan. Danville, was the only district which did not swing into the majority column and the election there was called off on account of the rains. The downpour was so persistent in Danville, that the polls were not opened.

The Morgan county districts have received flattering notices from the press of the state because of their passage of the measures, to which a great deal of opposition has been manifested in several of the counties in which elections have been held or are planned.

The vote of the districts already has been officially canvassed by the commissioners court but the exact amount the various districts will receive for their schools has not yet been tabulated by Mr. Troup.

A number of school buildings over the county have been planned by County Superintendent of Education J. C. Tidwell, the state rendering aid to the county in their construction. Supt. Tidwell also has under consideration a plan for the establishment of libraries in the rural schools.

Educational leaders of the county predict that the next few years will show marked growth of the rural schools of Morgan.

SOME NATIONAL AGENCY SHOULD TAKE PLACE OF BOARD

The passing of the war labor board because of the failure of the government to make sufficient appropriation for its continuance, has been proclaimed in many quarters as a national calamity. While that board was at work it settled 1,200 disputes between labor and capital, generally speaking to the satisfaction of all concerned. Besides, it sought to nip all disputes possible in the bud and thus it saved the country many embarrassing situations and intolerable conditions.

It is claimed that the work of this board materially shortened the war in that it kept labor and capital friendly and busy during the period of the war. Now that great crises seem to be imminent, there should be some such board to take the place of the war labor board.

Speaking along this line Basil M. Manly, considered the labor co-chairman for the late war board said: "What we need is a national understanding, 'not of politicians but of the people.'"

There is no reason why such an understanding as is necessary to avert the catastrophe which seems to be impending cannot be reached by those leaders who much more directly and truly represent the people than the men who sit in Congress. I mean that through a national conference of the representatives of labor and of capital, with proper representation of those public groups which have no direct affiliation with or dependence upon either labor or capital, an effective understanding can be reached which will provide the means for orderly progress toward better relations between all groups of American society.

This is the method which England was forced to adopt when, according to Frank A. Vanderlip, she was threatened with impending revolution. Lloyd George did not then go to Parliament for a solution. Instead he summoned an industrial parliament made up of several hundred leaders of British industry. They reached an understanding and the British revolution was averted.

Some weeks ago there was intimation that President Wilson contemplated the adoption of some such method of dealing with the industrial situation in the United States. It is true that this was not specifically confirmed by the President's message to Congress, but a message to Congress was obviously no place for the President to reveal any plans which he might have for such an extralegal method of procedure.

I do not doubt, therefore, that when the President finds the nation confronted, as it seems now inevitable that it will be, with actual or impending industrial controversies which threaten national stagnation, he will turn to the device which has proven so effective in England and summon, first, a small conference of the outstanding leaders of American labor and the great financiers who control industrial capital, to be followed by a great industrial congress embracing leaders from all industries and from all sections of the country.

It would seem that the conference announced yesterday of President Wilson with the President of the American Federation of Labor, is in direct line with the suggestion of Mr. Manly. And if Mr. Manly's idea is carried out there will be other and larger conferences to follow. Certainly, the estimated 5,000,000 organized workers of America will be glad to confer with the interests represented by the other millions of people living in this country. And certainly there ought to be brains enough available in the conferences purposed to find some peaceable way out of the present difficulties which face the American public.

When these conferences close, efforts should be made to establish a permanent tribunal through which all disputes between labor and capital should pass before they come to an open break. It is this principle on which the League of Nations is built, and the league in principle has been endorsed by the American Federation of Labor, as by most fair minded men everywhere.

Mr. Manly continuing says: The suppression of free discussion during a critical period such as we are now entering upon is of the greatest danger to the very life of the nation. There must be a safety valve of free speech and free assembly if we are to escape the destructive explosions which a policy of suppression and coercion will render inevitable.

I love America. I foresee troublous times confronting her, but I have faith in the American people and am confident that out of the turmoil and dissension which are ahead will come a better understanding among all groups and all classes, from which will be evolved a life of greater comfort and happiness for all the people of America and an enduring basis for that citizenship which alone makes a nation truly great.

"Win the war" has been displaced by "Down with costs" as the national slogan.

The movie actresses are the latest class of workers who are scheduled to go on strike for higher wages.

As near as King Alcohol ever gets to heaven is when he is in the fuel tanks of the new "Bootlegger" mail flying machine, on its trips between New York and Washington.

There have been investigations of the high cost of living that went into cold storage never to come out again. Let us hope history will not repeat itself.

Woodrow will find some way to take the "kick" out of any little speeches Messrs Borah and Lodge may make against the League of Nations covenant. Trust Mr. Wilson for that.

"Plain words butter no parsnips" is an old adage. Neither will just talk and conferences bring down the cost of butter and parsnips.

You don't hear much discussion now as to the merits of a meat or vegetarian diet. Everybody is too busy getting a little of either kind to argue about the particular merits.

The American public seem to be determined to have the best of everything except when it comes to the matter of getting good Senators. Of course no direct reference is made to Senators Borah and Lodge.

The bloody war which brought millions upon millions prematurely to their graves was a sad enough adventure in conflict, to make every one wish for a harvest of perpetual peace. Certainly now is no time for those who wish to fight "to the bitter end" and who have not the power or disposition to change their minds even though stern reason may demand it.

Voice of the People

Gatum, C. Z., Aug. 20, 1919 Albany-Decatur Daily.

Enclosed you will find check for $4.50 for subscription to the Albany-Decatur Daily.

We have enjoyed it very much and will say that the paper is well made up and very proud to know the way you are standing by organized labor for that is the only way a working man has a chance to live.

Thanking you again for the paper also give if you happen to meet any of my friends, my best regards.

Will say that the Panama Canal is busy now. The Pacific Fleet is all about through the canal, the last large battleship, the Idaho, went through the canal Monday. Of course there is a bunch of small boats to come later but all the large ones have gone through. The Melville, the ship that you said was blown up in the canal, was wrong, one of its boilers blew up about 200 miles out at sea from Cristobal, the Atlantic port in the canal.

Well, here's hoping a better and bigger town and my best regard to all. Yours truly,

CHARLES PETERSON.

Can a Man Own Millions?

$1 Worth 50 Cents.

Disinheriting Wives.

(By Arthur Brisbane.)

Many Americans "bringing home the bacon" sold by the army learned that there is something in Government ownership. National Government owns post offices, local governments own public schools. Post offices and public schools combined make possible, without friction or expense, the selling of millions of dollars' worth of food to people that need it.

Foss, of Massachusetts, is a candidate for Governor on this platform: "Public ownership of street cars at a five-cent fare, taxation to meet the loss, if any."

With public ownership intelligently managed there would be no loss. But if there were a loss, it should be met by taxation on wealth, not by an extra tax of six cents a day on women and men going to work.

City parks are run "at a loss" that prosperous persons may use the parks for driving. Taxes pay the which the poor live help to pay the taxes. If it is right to tax the poor to supply FREE parks and boulevards for automobiles, it would be all right to supply five-cent street car rides and tax prosperity to pay the loss.

If there were any loss prosperity would get back the taxes in another way.

The street car in the city is like the elevator in the office building. The owner runs his elevators without charge, does not waste time collecting fares. That is better for his building.

Cities one day will run their street cars as the owner of the skyscraper runs his elevators.

England announces $1.80 for a bushel of wheat, after paying freight. This worries Canada, for the Government price is $2.15. It would interest American farmers, whose price fixed by Government is about $2.28.

England evidently has wheat stored in the Argentine, Australia or elsewhere and is bound to give the benefit of cheap prices to her angry working population.

Carnegie left only fifty millions perhaps. He handled altogether about five hundred millions and is said to have given away at least three hundred and fifty millions. A reader asks "Did he own all that, since he could not possibly earn it?" Hard to answer, hard to deny that workers produced the money.

What should the farmer with ten calves in his pasture answer if asked "Do you own those ten calves, since the cow, not you, made them?"

The farmer might answer, "It is thanks to my management that the cows had regular feed and were enabled to raise the calves." Carnegie might have answered, "It is thanks to my management that my workers and managers were able to produce enough for them to live on and five hundred millions additional for me."

Mr. Jones with ten thousand dollars thinks Mr. Rockefeller can't possibly own a thousand million honestly. Mr. Bolsheviki thinks Mr. Jones can't possibly own his ten thousand millions honestly. Mr. Bolsheviki thinks Mr. Jones can't possibly own his ten thousand millions honestly. Mrs. Tiger would grab Mr. Bolsheviki, break his back and eat him, asking "What right have you to this flesh and blood when I need it to make milk from my tiger cubs? You are other animals, I eat you." Political economy is a complicated study.

Post Office employees ask for an increase in pay. Of course, they must have it. The farmer who used to feed his horse for fifty cents knows that he must pay more now or let the horse die. Printing presses have been busy. A dollar is worth fifty cents. A man worth one dollar before the war is worth two dollars now, and the world might as well recognize it.

Moebe's List

There are those who complain and say that life is more complex—that opportunities do not present themselves today as they did in the days gone by.

Opportunities for quick wealth are not so numerous. But the complex situation that we complain about is proof that there are more opportunities growing out of this greater variety of situations and conditions.

After all the opportunities which concern you are the ones you are able to see and are shrewd enough to take advantage of.

The situation reminds us of Kate who telegraphed John as follows:

"Dear John: Come as soon as you can. Am dying.—Kate." After a long journey, John arrived to be met by Kate herself. "Why, what did you mean by wiring you were dying?" he asked.

"Oh," she said, "I wanted to say that I was dying to see you, but my ten words ran out and I had to stop."

So, our space has run out and we must stop. If you do not see what you want, see us.

Prevented Him Using Arms to Feed Himself. Recommends 40.

Augusta, Ga., May, 20, 1919. "I suffered with rheumatism and indigestion and at times could not use my arms to feed myself. I tried every remedy I heard of with only temporary relief. I was advised to try Number 40 For The Blood which I did with splendid results. While I am not entirely well I feel like a different man and expect to continue Number 40, believing it will cure me.
 I have told several of my friends of 40, which they are taking with great results. I cheerfully recommend No.

Oh, for an Accident.

Some diplomatists seem to achieve great success simply by sitting tight and letting matters take their own course, something after the manner of the Arkansas farmer who retired in disgust, saying he believed he could make more money by accident than he could by farming.—Kansas City

Ideals.

 you reach your destiny.

Help Scarce, Farmers
"Steal" Farm Hands

(International News Service.)
SALINA, Kan., Aug. 30.—"Farmer" Arthur Fury, erstwhile Central Kansas League pitcher, has learned that other things besides bases can be stolen—harvest hands, for instance. "Farmer" and his wife came to town and after securing a load of harvest hands, put them on a train for Pals, where he had a 200-acre farm. Not one of them reached Pals. They were "stolen"—taken off the train by farmers between Salina and Pals. Another carload was gathered up, but this time "Farmer" took no risks but accompanied his men to the farm.

Laboratory Tested Feed

Purina Cow Chow is laboratory tested and machine mixed. This means that your cows get a uniform quality ration, which prevents them from going "off feed" and insures maximum milk flow.

You know that if a cow is thrown off her feed by improper mixing, or feeding off-quality grain, it may take days to get her "back." This results in a heavy loss of milk.

Purina Cow Chow

It is your best safeguard against such losses. Every ingredient that enters into Purina Cow Chow must come up to a rigid standard of quality. Not only is the quality of the grain guarded, but the ingredients are accurately measured and mixed by machinery. For that reason, Purina Cow Chow is bound to be absolutely uniform

Just the right elements are included to balance the roughage andilage that you produce. Your milk records will prove the feeding value of Purina Cow Chow. Let us put your head on a test.

PARAMOUNT-ARTCRAFT WEEK TO BE OBSERVED

For the second time, in as many years, famous Players-Lasky corporation, distributors of Paramount-Artcraft pictures, have inaugurated a Paramount-Artcraft week and have adopted as their slogan "A Drive for Better Motion Pictures." In keeping with their slogan they have arranged with the important picture theatres throughout the country, not already exhibiting a complete Paramount-Artcraft program, to show their pictures for a solid week, starting September 1st, or August 31st in cities where pictures are shown on Sunday.

Paramount-Artcraft pictures have been given to the public for seven years and during that time have maintained a standard of excellence that all other motion picture makers have endeavored to imitate. The greatest of producing directors have combined their efforts with the best available players to manufacture a product that would meet with public approval and establish the Paramount-Artcraft trade mark. In addition to the feature pictures, with stars of a known magnitude, Famous Players-Lasky have given to the world a series of comedies by Mack Sennett and Rosco (Fatty) Arbuckle. Travelogues of Burton Holmes and educational features have helped materially to create a following for the theatre showing a Paramount-Artcraft trademark.

"ON THE QUIET" IS FINE FILM STORY

John Barrymore's New Picture Relishable Comedy—Delite Monday.

One of the most relishable comedies produced by Paramount in years is "On the Quiet," which serves as John Barrymore's re-entrance into the silent drama, and which will be displayed at the Delite theatre next Monday. The picture was directed by Chester Withey, and the story is based upon Augustus Thomas' famous stage success produced in New York in 1901.

The plot revolves about a rather wild college young man and a beautiful girl who falls heir to twenty millions, the receipt of which is wholly dependant upon her consummating a marriage in accordance with the wishes of her brother who is executor of their father's estate. She marries the student "on the quiet" and this provokes complications which are bound to hold the attention of every spectator to the final scene.

Mr. Barrymore is well supported in this photoplay. The players include Frank Losce, J. W. Johnston, Al Hickman, Helen Greene, Lois Meredith and other notable screen players.

MASONIC THEATRE MONDAY Mildred Austin Musical Comedy Co. In "The Whole Damn Family."

A delightful attraction is promised the patrons of the Masonic theatre the coming week in the booking of Mildred Austin and her musical comedy Co., who will present for the first three days the lively musical farce "The Whole Damn Family," with p. Damn, Ma Damn, Helen Damn, Willie Damn, the Damn Baby and the Damn Dog in Fact the Whole Damn Family. Not only in the Whole Damn Family the type of entertainment which is best liked by the patrons of the Masonic theatre, but it is an exceptional and pleasing example of the type according to reports from the localities where the production has been seen. The vehicle is a lively hodgepodge of music, comedy singing, dancing, pretty girls and specialties, but what lifts it out of the mediocre class is the ability of the principals who handle the characters parts in the comedy skit, the timeliness of the chorus and the charm of the musical features and the colorful and attractive scenic effects and costumes which the show is invested. The principal feature of the show is Miss Mildred Austin, a former leading lady; with Henry Miller's Great Divide and many other breezy attractions.

and with her wonderful singing voice, puts over to good advantage, both comic ballads and blue songs and Mildred Austin Harmony singing trio who render all of the latest songs, the many specialties in the show, you will find it a pleasing entertainment.

A NERVOUS WRECK

From Three Years' Suffering. Says Cardui Made Her Well.

Texas City, Tex.—In an interesting statement, Mrs. G. H. Schill, of this town, says: "For three years I suffered untold agony with my head. I was unable to do any of my work."

I just wanted to sleep all the time, for that was the only ease I could get, when I was asleep. I became a nervous wreck just from the awful suffering with my head.

I was so nervous that the least noise would make me jump out of my bed. I had no energy, and was unable to do anything. My son, a young boy, had to do all my household duties.

I was not able to do anything until I took Cardui. I took three bottles in all, and it surely cured me of those awful headaches. That has been three years ago, and I know the cure is permanent, for I have never had any headache since taking Cardui.

Nothing relieved me until I took Cardui. It did wonders for me."

Try Cardui for your troubles—made from medicinal ingredients recommended in medical books as being of benefit in female troubles, and 40 years of use has proven that the books are right. Begin taking Cardui today. NC-134

BEING A PRINCE IS A VERY TIRESOME JOB

By GEORGE R. HOLMES,

International News Service Staff Correspondent.

EN ROUTE WITH THE PRINCE OF WALES, Aug. 30.—It's a tough game, this being a prince. Believe it or not as you choose. But it is.

You are handicapped at the start with any number of names—that is, any large number. The Prince of Wales, who is now touring Canada and, who, in November, will be the guest of President Wilson at the White House, answers to seven names, eight titles, and has eight letters after his name. And his full title ends up with "etc., etc." showing that some one had a kind heart. Imagine having to answer to this:

"Your Royal Highness, Edward Albert Christian George Andrew Patrick David, Prince of Wales, Earl of Chester, Duke of Cornwall, Duke of Rothesay, Earl of Carrick, Baron of Renfrew, Lord of the Isles, Great Stewart of Scotland, K. G., G. M. M.
G., etc., etc."

And after imagining yourself with that kind of a name, imagine having to stand and appear interested several times every day while solemn-visaged gentlemen address you by all of 'em before they even start to say what they have to say.

And all the time you are under the critical eyes of thousands of persons who note your every move and quite probably will take your slightest gesture and mannerism as a criterion for their own habits. Add to all this not very many years in age a natural desire to shun ostentation, and a realization of an immense responsibility and you have but a minute conception of the present situation of Edward Albert Christian George, etc., etc.

For nearly three months the Prince will tour Canada. He will never be in one place longer than five days, covering almost ten thousand miles and meeting thousands of persons. He will pay royal visits to fifty-two Canadian cities.

Every day is mapped out already;
mapped out down to the most minute detail.

One of his average days is something like this:

Be met at 10 a. m. by a municipal and provincial reception committee, all in frock coats, shiny silk hats and long faces, trembling at their own responsibility and nervous for fear something may go wrong and give the place a royal black eye, so to speak.

There is a guard of honor and a band. The band plays the National Anthem as the Prince appears. He stops and stands rigidly at salute until it closes. General handshaking follows. Then he inspects the Guard, a ceremonial inspection which is quite useless from a utilitarian standpoint, because the Guard always is shined, spicked and spanned as it never was.

There is a great crowd around shouting:

"There he is."
"Looks like a kid, doesn't he?"
"Gee, he's a little guy."
"Nice-looking kid, ain't he?"
The last usually comes from the feminine element of the crowd.

Then into a car and a long procession to the Provincial House or Government House, which corresponds to an American City Hall. There in a solemn room with every eye in the place on him he listens to two addresses of welcome, read by officials whose voices invariably tremble a bit.
He receives the addresses in parchment as soon as the reading is finished, turns to Sir Lionel Halsey, his Chief of Staff, who never leaves his side, and receives from him the reply to the civic addresses, which he reads.

These replies are always written beforehand. If the names of places were changed in them one copy would serve all the way through. More handshaking. To the cars again.
Visit a hospital, where dozens of wounded soldiers are recuperating from wounds received overseas. Drive about the city, decorate some soldiers and inspect them. Lunch and more speaking, long ceremonial lunches, and longer ceremonial speeches. Same stereotyped style.

Perhaps visit another hospital.
Sometimes it's laying a cornerstone.
Maybe dedicating some building. Occasionally unveiling a monument to those who fell in the war. By that hour it's usually time for a public reception at the Government House.
Shake hands with hundreds of people,
more often the number is thousands.

Then a state dinner. More speeches and more ceremony.

And do the same all over the next day, and the next, and every one for the next six or eight weeks.

Once in a while there is a break in the formality, in the solemnity of it all. And the Prince hugely enjoys it when it comes.

A few days ago he paid a visit to a certain famous outdoor club. He was received under the trees informally, and the president of the club made a few remarks.

"I hope," he said in conclusion,
"that your Royal Highness will tell the King when you return to England that you attended at least one function in Canada at which you were not bored stiff."

The Prince laughed heartily. "I will," he replied, "and I'll tell him, too, that the club is still going strong."

Then everyone sang, "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow," and drank a toast (which never had heard of a 2.75 law) to the royal heir's health. The Prince drank a couple of goblets himself.
Then he regretfully left to lay another cornerstone.

Notice the Welcome

A Closed Car Just As Popular

As the Touring Model You Know

Given the Essex Sedan

A car-loving public "found" the Essex touring car and quickly made it known in almost every town and hamlet.

The same thing is happening now to the Essex Sedan.

Of course, there are good reasons for those expressions of real affection one hears of every day for the Essex. Time has revealed the fact that qualities which appeal are retained even after the hardest service.

Come and take a ride in this luxurious closed model people are talking about.

What They Say
Is a Safe Guide

The touring model is the introductory "brand" of the Essex enjoying a distinctive career.

Now comes this closed model as a representative of our ideas in liveliness and luxury.

People talk about both with equal pride. Be guided by what they say.

Notice how those beautiful square lines distinguish the Essex Sedan. Its exclusive finish gives it a select and popular ownership.

Plenty of room inside those wide opening doors for such a small and handy car.
Deft execution of ideas in upholstery art makes it cozy, too. The liberal allotment of spacious comfort would surprise you were you to take a ride.

Rich appearance stamps the Sedan as worthy of the road. It glides along smoothly as a model unit of compactness.

Note yourself how it attracts attention on the highways. Hear what people are saying about its performance.

Merits of the Sedan Should Please You

Essex wide range of qualities brings out interesting discussions and comparisons. Owners boast of their good judgment in choosing the Essex because of the appreciable economic maintenance features in its favor.

Moderate in first cost, there is in the Essex that exclusive degree of elegance which has given it prestige.

Noticeable freedom from jolts over rough roads is due to the rigid Essex chassis and substantial assembly.

Perfect acceleration gives the driver a winning confidence when desirous of heading heavy city motor traffic. Just you notice how the Essex takes the lead.
It "gets away."

Essex "grit" finds right-of-way anywhere.

Another general comment about it is that it matches up with those expensive and powerful cars—the best on the road.

It is making history in speed, hill-climbing and useful performances. It keeps on "speaking for itself" under all sorts of road conditions.

Close to one thousand Sedans have been sold. There is a big demand. Orders are keeping far ahead of production, the factory tell us. It is advisable, therefore, to place your order without delay.

POLICEMAN LOST 65 POUNDS THRU STOMACH TROUBLE

Flat on His Back and Could Not Get Up—Unable to Do His Work for Three Years.

"My stomach and kidneys gave me the worst kind of trouble for three years," says G. W. Walton, police officer, of 2525 19th St., Ensley, Alabama. "I was able to work only two months in three years. Finally I got down on my back in bed and could not move without the greatest exertion. My kidneys were continually out of order. There was a peculiar dead feeling in my stomach and bowels and I lost 65 pounds. I was under the care of doctors and took treatments and medicines. I commenced to take Sulfero-Sol and took one bottle. Before I got through with it I began to improve and improved right along. I kept taking it until I was as well as ever. I work regularly every day, have regained most of my weight and feel fine all the time. The pains in my kidneys and back have ceased and my stomach and bowels are usually normal. If ever they feel a bit dull and sluggish, I take a dose or two of Sulfero-Sol and it fixes me up. I have never taken any medicine from any doctor since I first began using Sulfero-Sol. Several of my friends have used it upon my recommendation and they have thanked me for telling them about it."

For kidney and bladder troubles, stomach and bowel disorders, take Sulfero-Sol, the wonder medicine. Be sure your druggist gives you Sulfero-Sol. Accept no substitutes. $1.00 per bottle; 6 bottles for $5.00. Sulfero-Sol Co., Montgomery, Ala.

SELECTION AND CARE OF PEANUTS FOR SEED.

By H. B. Tisdale, Associate Plant Breeder.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

The peanut production of Alabama will be much less this season than last season, due largely to the use of bad planting seed. If Alabama is to maintain a maximum production of peanuts on the acreage planted the utmost care will have to be exercised in selecting, harvesting and storing the seed peanuts.

Peanuts which have been prepared for the regular market are not desirable for seed for several reasons. When peanuts are plowed up and stacked for seed peanuts they do not receive the particular attention necessary for seed peanuts nor is there any process for selection of desirable plants. Thrashed peanuts are most undesirable for seed because a large amount of the nuts are injured by being shelled out and hulls and skins are broken.

Tests made at the Alabama Experiment Station have shown that peanuts with broken skins and peanuts shelled for a long time, have a very low germinating power and are unfit for seed. Storing peanuts in large quantities is liable to destroy their germinating power, due to heating and attack of molds. The shelling machines destroy the germinating power of a large percentage of the nuts, rendering them very undesirable for seed purposes.

The following process is recommended for obtaining seed peanuts of high yielding and high germinating power. When the peanut plants are plowed up ready to be stacked, go over the field carefully and pick out the plants having the largest number of sound, mature nuts, free from all disease. Enough of these selected plants for planting the next year's crop are stacked in small stacks off to themselves. These stacks should be well capped and allowed to cure in the best condition. It would be wise to have one stack composed of the choicest plants to be used for planting a seed patch the following year.

When these special seed stacks have cured well the nuts should be picked from the vines by hand if possible, and then stored loosely in a dry place. One or two months before planting the seed peanuts should be shelled by hand and all undesirable nuts removed. These that are shriveled, immature or diseased and nuts of other varieties.

This process of caring for the seed peanuts may mean an increase of from five to fifteen bushels per acre, which would well repay the trouble.

"DO NOT BUY SEEDLING PECAN, APPLE OR PEACH TREES."

By G. C. Starcher, Horticulturist.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

An examination made recently of a healthy seedling pecan grove of eighty-eight trees disclosed the fact that only eight trees had a crop that could be classed as worth while commercially. Eighty of the trees had practically no nuts. The land was rich, moist and in the best pecan territory. The trees were twenty-five years of age. No evidence could be found that these trees had ever borne better crops than they had the present year and this year's crop throughout the state is probably larger than ever. This is only one instance in hundreds that may be found in Alabama of the unprofitable character of seedling pecan trees. Another large orchard, visited last year, comprising about sixty acres of seedling trees, did not show an average production on each acre of sixty trees as great as each tree should have produced if they had been standard budded varieties.

The writer was asked a few days ago to name all of the arguments for and against seedling pecans. The following is a list against the seedling pecan:

First: The trees are no more hardy than standard trees and probably not as hardy if one considers such trees as Stewart in comparing with general seedlings.

Second: They are not as disease resistant in general as our most disease resistant standard varieties.

Third: They are not as beautiful on the average as our best varieties of standard trees.

Fourth: They often prove sterile, thus discouraging the planting of pecans of any sort.

Fifth: If they do prove productive, the quality of nuts may be so poor as to discourage anyone purchasing improved sorts on the market.

Sixth: Varieties of high quality nuts, especially adapted to northern territory, are being developed and we want to leave the field open to such a horticultural movement. Therefore, seedling trees should not be grown for shipment to any territory.

Seventh: They are not sold at prices cheaper than growers are willing to sell first-class budded varieties.

The arguments for seedling pecan trees were summed up as follows:

"In fact, there is not one atom of argument in favor of permitting the sale of seedling pecans. Therefore, if we are not able to give you any argument on the other side, probably you will not agree with me that it is such a one-sided question but my mind, after three years residence in Alabama, is very decidedly made up."

A strong effort is being made to persuade the Southern Nurserymen's Association to outlaw seedling fruit and nut trees. It is hoped that the measure will be adopted by this association at its meeting to be held in Atlanta soon. The same general arguments that are quoted above against seedling pecans applies with practically equal force against seedling peach, apple and other fruit.

In other words, when the fruit tree agent comes to your place purchase from him only standard varieties of fruits and nuts. If you do not have a list of these, write the Department of Horticulture, Auburn, Alabama, and a list will be forwarded to you at once.

SOUTHERN BUR CLOVER FOR SOIL IMPROVEMENT AND EARLY SPRING PASTURE.

By E. F. Cauthen.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

Southern bur clover should be grown on most farms for soil improvement, winter cover crop, and early spring pasture. During the fall and winter when the weather is warm, it makes considerable growth; masses of fine roots penetrate and hold the soil together during the heavy winter and spring rains; and it checks surface erosion and leaching. In the spring, the roots rapidly decay and put humus in the soil. A heavy crop of stubble and roots adds about 20 pounds of nitrogen or the equivalent of 133 pounds of nitrate of soda per acre.

In the spring when green vegetation is scarce, stock graze bur clover rather freely. It helps to tide the stock over until grass becomes abundant.

The time to plant bur clover is August or September. It may be planted later if the seed is treated with hot water to bring about quick germination. For method of treatment to hasten germination, see Circular No. 29, Alabama Experiment Station, Auburn.

When the bur clover with the litter gathered at harvesting are sown, no artificial inoculation is required. If inoculation is needed, mix 400 or 500 pounds of soil from bur clover, melilotus, or alfalfa fields and sow broadcast with the bur clover seed. Inoculation is necessary to secure a good healthy growth. Southern bur clover grows on almost any kind of well drained soil.

For cover crop or pasture, sow from 2 to 4 bushels of seed (in bur) per acre. If planted on plowed land, the seed may be covered with harrow, wheel scraper, or some shallow cultivating implement. If planted on a sod, the seed may be scattered in open furrows 4 or 5 feet apart made with a scooter plow, and covered lightly by dragging a brush or harrow across the furrows. Fairly good results have been secured by sowing seed broadcast on the sod leaving them for the rain to wash into low places or pockets where they germinate and grow.

HOW MANY KINDS OF CORN BREAD CAN YOU MAKE?

By Helen Johnston, Assistant, State Home Demonstration Agent.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

Here are recipes for six kinds:

Deli cate Spoon Corn Bread.

One-fourth cup corn meal.

1 teaspoon butter.

1 tablespoon sugar.

1 teaspoon salt.

2 eggs.

2 cups milk.

Mix the corn meal and milk and bring slowly to the boiling point and cook a few minutes. Add the butter, sugar, salt, and yolks of eggs. Lastly, fold in the whites of eggs beaten stiff. Bake in a hot oven 30 minutes. Serve in the dish in which it is cooked.

This serves six people.

Spider Corn Bread.

1½ cups corn meal.

2 cups sour milk.

1 teaspoon soda.

1 teaspoon salt.

2 eggs.

2 tablespoons butter.

Mix the dry ingredients. Add the eggs well beaten and the milk. Place the butter in a frying pan, melt it, and grease the pan well. Heat the pan and turn in the mixture. Place in a hot oven and cook 20 minutes.

This serves six people.

Corn-Meal Muffins.

One-half cup corn meal.

1 cup wheat flour.

3 teaspoons baking powder.

2 tablespoons sugar.

1 tablespoon melted butter.

1 teaspoon salt.

Three-fourths cup milk.

1 egg.

Mix the dry ingredients; add the milk gradually, the egg well beaten and the melted butter; bake in a hot oven in buttered gem pans 25 minutes.

This serves four people.

Apple Corn Bread.

2 cups white corn meal.

Three-fourths teaspoon salt.

1 teaspoon soda.

1 teaspoon cream of tartar.

1-2 cups milk.

2 tart apples, pared and sliced.

Mix the dry ingredients, add the milk and beat thoroughly. Add the apples. Pour into a well-buttered shallow pan and bake 30 minutes or longer in hot oven to soften the apples.

This could be made with dried apricots cooked in the usual manner by soaking and cooking slowly and adding a little sugar. The juice may be used as sauce.

This serves six or eight people.

Crackling Bread.

1 quart corn meal.

1 pint cracklings.

3 teaspoons salt.

Boiling water.

Mix the corn meal and salt; pour over this mixture enough boiling water to moisten but not enough to make a mush. When the meal has cooled, work the cracklings into it with the fingers. Form the dough into cakes about 4 inches long, 2 inches wide, and 1 inch thick; bake for 30 minutes.

This bread, because of its large percentage of fat, is eaten without butter, and should be served very hot.

Sour-Milk Corn Bread.

2 cups corn meal.

3 cups sour milk.

2 tablespoons butter.

2 tablespoons sugar, white or brown.

1½ teaspoons salt.

2 eggs.

1 teaspoon soda.

1 tablespoon cold water.

There are two ways of mixing this bread. By the first the meal, milk, salt, butter, and sugar are cooked in a double boiler for about 10 minutes. When the mixture is cool, the eggs are added well beaten and the soda dissolved in the water. By the other method all the dry ingredients, including the soda, are mixed together, and then the sour milk and eggs well beaten and the butter are added. If the second method is followed, the cold water is not needed. The bread should be baked in a shallow iron or granite pan for about 30 minutes.

BUY HOME GROWN FEEDS AND PRODUCTS.

By Leslie Gilbert Agricultural Editor.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

Human nature is the same in every age. Centuries ago when his race was rejected in Nazareth, his boyhood home, Jesus Christ uttered a truism in saying "A prophet is not without honor save in his own country." As of people, so of things, and today this thought is expressed in the phrase "Distance lends enchantment." To make a material application, Alabama today is sending vast sums of money into Western and Northern States for the purchase of feeds which are no better or even inferior to those being produced right at home.

In cottonseed meal, peanut meal and velvet bean meal the South has feed for dairy stock, cattle and hogs that no other one section can rival. For years the merits of cottonseed meal as a cow feed has been recognized in its large exportation to Holland, Denmark and dairy sections of France and England. Peanut meal, though a newer product, is also gaining a strong foothold in Europe—as witnessed by the purchase of many thousands of tons of both meal and cake within the past month for export trade. Foreign feeders have been studying this matter of feeds for generations and have reduced it to a science. With a world wide choice permitted them, they are preferring Southern grown products.

And yet in spite of this convincing testimony from a recognized authority, carried after carload of wheat products, shorts, bran and mixed feeds are being shipped every day into all sections of Alabama and the South for feeding to dairy and beef stock. This transaction sends out of the South vast sums of money which we never see again; stimulates a trade with which our own products are in direct competition and builds up and prospers a far distant section.

Again we must more generally purchase pork produced from peanut fed hogs. If we propose to continue to market a large portion of this valuable feeding crop through the hog as an intermediary, we must stand ready to purchase a pork so produced and establish for the packers the ready market desired. If this is more generally done, we will again be beneficiaries in keeping at home for local use and demands, thousands and thousands of dollars sent West and North for corn fed pork.

KEEP UP THE MILK FLOW DURING LATE SUMMER.

By W. H. Eaton, Assistant, Dairy Husbandman.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

During the early spring and summer months Mother Nature is kind to the dairy cow in supplying green pasturage and other green crops to stimulate the milk flow. With the approach of late summer the average pastures begin to fail, due to dry weather and other conditions, and the dairy farmer should begin now to plan to hold the milk flow up as the pastures go down.

The dairy cow should be well fed in the fall for three reasons:

1st. When the cow falls in milk production for a few weeks it is difficult to get her back to a maximum flow by any system of feeding.

2nd. Dairy products advance in the fall and winter. Produce milk when the demand for it is heavy.

3rd. Feed the cow well in the late summer and fall in order to have her go into winter quarters in the best possible condition.

The following grain mixtures are being used by successful dairy farmers of Alabama:

Grain Mixtures.

No. 1—

100 pounds cottonseed meal.

300 pounds velvet beans.

No. 2—

100 pounds cottonseed meal.

100 pounds corn and cob meal.

200 pounds velvet beans.

No. 3—

100 pounds cottonseed meal.

100 pounds wheat bran.

200 pounds velvet beans.

No. 4—

100 pounds cottonseed meal.

100 pounds peanut meal.

200 pounds velvet beans.

Feed the cow one pound of grain mixture for every three or four pounds of milk produced, and all the roughage she will consume.

THE DAIRY COW.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

The Dairy Cow is a thing of charm; she lifts the mortgage from the farm; she makes the farmer's life more sweet, and sets him down on easy street. Wherever the dairy cow is queen, a prosperous country may be seen, and dairymen in joyful ranks are packing money to the banks. Why plug along the old way, producing cotton and no hay, and putting up a bankrupt wall if one year's crop should chance to fail? There is a better method now, the method of the dairy cow; this critter always earns her keep, and piles up riches while you sleep, and pays the taxes and the rents; and here in Alabama, Genie, we have the climate, as you know, to make the dairy business go; we have the grass and other feeds, and all conditions dairying needs. So let us boost the Jersey cow, which beats the old breech-loaded plow; the Guernsey and the Holstein too, as smooth as any cows in view. Let's take up Dairies, Milk and Cream, the safest money-making scheme.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30.—Quoting from a speech of Senator Lodge, delivered in 1915 in which he favored a league of nations, Senator Owen, Democrat of Oklahoma, in an address in the senate today replied to the most recent attack of the chairman of the foreign relations committee upon the peace treaty and the league of nations covenant.

Too High to Lend.

Our neighbor, who has a great habit of borrowing, came over one afternoon to borrow some baking powder and I told her I had none. In the course of conversation she mentioned the high price of baking powders, when my brother spoke up: "Look on the grocery bill and see how much they charged me for the can I got this morning."—Exchange.

Hun Diplomat's Rank Depends on the U. S.

(International News Service.) BERLIN, Aug. 30.—The status of Germany's next diplomatic representation in Washington will depend entirely on the rank given the successor of James W. Gerard in Berlin. It was learned from an attache of the foreign office here today. "The United States has the privilege of sending a full ambassador to Germany at once. If this course is taken we shall follow suit," the official stated.

Had the Right Idea.

As Juanita and Charles were eating breakfast one morning they both asked at the same moment for the second helping. Having taught Charles that his sister must be waited on first, he said, "Well, ladies first and mans next."
